Essential Novelists - Alain-René Lesage

Routledge

"Transforming bewilderment into understanding and pleasure while preserving a sense of Robbe-Grillet's considerable richness and complexity, Smith elucidates the defining elements of the writer's fictional world - characters that barely exist, changeable narrators, plots that defy logic, notoriously meticulous descriptions that never quite form a complete story. Smith examines Robbe-Grillet's embrace of discontinuity, circularity, indeterminacy, and linguistic play. Smith also poses questions about how we should view this perplexing writer: as an author of hyperobjective novels and short stories, a subjective novelist, a realist, or a writer who undermines the narrative's claim to represent reality. In addition Smith evaluates the sado-erotic imagery of Robbe-Grillet's middle and late novels as a metaphorical play with textual and social conventions."--BOOK JACKET.

La biographie d'un inconnu au coeur du XIXe siècle. Minutieusement, à l'aide d'archives, l'auteur a reconstitué la vie très ordinaire d'un sabotier analphabète père de huit enfants, Louis-François Pinagot. Il montre ainsi qu'on fait une histoire sociale du peuple à l'aide de gens qui s'en sont extirpés et que c'est une histoire fallacieuse.

On l'appelait le Yiddishland. Au centre de l'Europe, à cheval sur la Pologne, la Lituanie, l'Ukraine, la Roumanie et la Hongrie, ce continent n'ayant ni centre ni vrais contours était peuplé de plus de onze millions de Juifs. Avant la Seconde Guerre mondiale, ils formaient des minorités importantes et bien établies. Puis ce continent à disparu, comme l'Atlantide. Aujourd'hui, que reste-t-il des communautés juives dans ces pays? Comment y conserve-t-on le souvenir de leur présence? Quel regard porte-t-on sur leur disparition? Si des résidus d'antisémitisme subsistent, on ressent aussi de la nostalgie, de la curiosité et même une certaine idéalisation de ce passé. Ce livre est le récit d'un voyage sur les routes du Yiddishland d'aujourd'hui, à la recherche de ce qu'il en reste et de ceux qui tentent de le faire renaître ou, tout au moins, d'en perpétuer la mémoire. The Praxis of Alain Badiou John Benjamins Publishing

Drawing on the philosopher's writings as well as the recollections of several people who knew him, Cain (education, State U. of New York) examines Locke's philosophy of cultural pluralism and the impact of his grounding in philosophy as he became immersed in the adult education movement of the 1920s to the 1940s. The study looks at how Locke expected others to use his aesthetic, literary, and anthropological theories as instruments for social and political transformation, and discusses the links and contrasts between Locke's thinking and the work of Booker T. Washington and W.E.B. DuBois. Seven b&w photos follow the text. Annotation : 2004 Book News, Inc., Portland, OR (booknews.com).

Advances in the engineering of sensing and acting capabilities distributed in wide range of specialized devices is providing at last an opportunity for the fundamental advances that computer science achieved in the past few decades to make an impact in our daily lives. This technical confluence is matched by a unique historical context where users are better informed (more aware of the benefits that technology can provide) and production of more complex systems is becoming more affordable. Sensors/actuators deployed in an environment (in this context it can be any physical space like a house, office, classroom, car, street, etc.) facilitate a link between an automated decision-making system connected to that technologically enriched space. This computing empowered environment enables the provision of an intelligent environment, i.e., "a digital environment that proactively, but sensibly, supports people in their daily lives". This is an active area of research which is attracting an increasing number of professionals (in academia and industry) worldwide. The prestigious 5th International Conference on Intelligent Environments (IE'09) is focused on the development of advanced intelligent environments and stimulates the discussion on several specific topics which are crucial to the future of the area. As part of that five workshops were supported as part of IE'09. This volume is the combined proceedings of those five workshops: Workshop on Digital Object Memories (DOMe'09), Workshop on RFID Technology: concepts, practices & solutions (RFID'09), Workshop on Artificial Intelligence Techniques for Ambient Intelligence (AITAmI'09), Workshop on Ethical Design of Ambient Intelligence (EDAmI'09), Workshop on Smart Offices and Other Workplaces (SOOW'09).

Depuis plusieurs années Alain Rivière écrit sur la brutalité de la vie quotidienne et sur les guerres, les migrants et les sans-abri d'un monde saturé d'images et de moyens dits de communication. L'auteur nous fait part d'un autre regard et d'une autre envergure que la poésie peut nous révéler. Les poèmes sont devenus des traces pour faire un autre chemin...

There is little doubt that Alain Badiou is one of the most challenging and controversial figures in contemporary philosophy. This volume of essays brings together leading commentators from both sides of the Atlantic to provide an introduction to Badiou's work through critical studies of his more productive and controversial ideas. Over the course of three decades, his numerous and extensive texts have challenged traditional views on ontology, mathematics, aesthetics, literature, politics, ethics, philosophy, and sexual difference. His texts on Plato, Saint Paul, Pascal, Lacan, Althusser, Heidegger, Mallarmé, Pessoa, and Beckett are among the most perceptive and penetrating essays on contemporary philosophical and literary culture. In addition to providing insight into the basic conceptual apparatus of Badiou's philosophy, the essays also offer a more substantial critical assessment of the import of his main theses for different disciplines.

This book is the second edition of the first complete study and monograph dedicated to singular traces. The text offers, due to the contributions of Albrecht Pietsch and Nigel Kalton, a complete theory of traces and their spectral properties on ideals of compact operators on a separable Hilbert space. The second edition has been updated on the fundamental approach provided by Albrecht Pietsch. For mathematical physicists and other users of Connes' noncommutative geometry the text offers a complete reference to traces on weak trace class operators, including Dixmier traces and associated formulas involving residues of spectral zeta functions and asymptotics of partition functions.

Alain Kirili / Edward Steichen Slatkine

Among the most innovative and influential filmmakers of the twentieth century, Alain Resnais (1922–2014) did not originally set out to become a director. He trained as an actor and film editor and, during the sixty-eight years of his working life, delved into virtually every corner of filmmaking, working at one time or another as screenwriter, assistant director, camera operator and cinematographer, special effects coordinator, technical consultant, and even author of source material. From such award-winning documentaries as Van Gogh and Night and Fog to the groundbreaking dramas Hiroshima mon amour, Last Year at Marienbad, and Muriel, Resnais's films experiment with such themes as consciousness, memory, and the imagination. Distinguishing himself from associations with the French New Wave movement, Resnais considered his films to be "anti-illusionist," never allowing his spectators to forget they were watching a work of art. In Alain Resnais: Interviews, editor Lynn A. Higgins collects twenty-one interviews with the filmmaker, twelve of which are translated into English for the first time. Spanning his entire career from his early short subjects to his final feature film, the volume highlights Resnais's creative strategies and principles, illuminates his place in world cinema history, and situates his work relative to the New Wave, American film, and experimental filmmaking more broadly. Like his films, the interviews collected here reveal a creator who is at once an intellectual, a philosopher, an entertainer, a craftsman, and an artist.

Alain Badiou is one of the world's most influential living philosophers. Few contemporary thinkers display his breadth of argument and reference, or his ability to intervene in debates critical to both analytic and continental philosophy. Alain Badiou: Key Concepts presents an overview of and introduction to the full range of Badiou's thinking. Essays focus on the foundations of Badiou's thought, his "key concepts" - truth, being, ontology, the subject, and conditions - and on his engagement with a range of thinkers central to his philosophy, including Plato, Descartes, Spinoza, Heidegger and Deleuze.

Sur les traces du Yiddishland Catapult

This book on Alain Badiou's philosophy begins with a central theme: the attempt to trace how Badiou has replaced the tradition of critical theory and negation with an affirmative support of his four generic procedures (art, science, love, and art) as inseparable from his revitalization of both the subject and the concept of truth. By defining four procedures as conditions of philosophy, Badiou makes the attempt to establish each as inter-related and systematically necessary to make a new proposal for thought. The fidelity to Badiou's project for the 21st century, however, requires a fundamental examination: are his four truths complicated by an inescapable dilemma? And if so, can the four truths be retained, as a whole, or does the individual reader have to make a decision that will alter Badiou's project and conclusions? By presenting the dilemmas of his thought, the scholarly reader will be in a position to then pursue the necessary study to come to their own conclusions and, by doing so, become sufficiently free to resist the many coercions of social and political life in liberal democracies today.

Parmi les nombreux peuples "barbares" présents en Gaule à la fin de la période romaine, les Sarmates et Alains, cavaliers des steppes de langue iranienne, sont peut-être les moins connus. Des Sarmates ont été installés dès le IV<sup>e</sup> siècle, et des Alains fuyant l'empire des Huns les ont rejoints lors de la grande invasion de 407. Ce livre expose ce que l'on sait de leur histoire en Gaule et en explore les traces de toutes sortes.

French VII Bibliography Flammarion-Pere Castor

Héritier d'une double histoire littéraire, celle de Jacques Rivière et celle d'Alain-Fournier, l'auteur de ce récit a tenté de dessiner le parcours de sa propre vie à la trace de son père et de son oncle, pensant que si l'on est redevable à ses parents d'une certaine part de son existence, le sillage qu'on laisse derrière soi s'efface plus vite que la marque laissée par eux dans son cœur. Elle est ineffaçable. Et c'est pour leur témoigner sa reconnaissance qu'il a voulu revenir sur les pas de son enfance, de son adolescence, et s'émerveiller d'avoir été conduit mystérieusement sur le chemin de sa vie. Pour avoir vécu deux destinées, religieuse et profane, apparemment exclusives l'une de l'autre, cohérentes en fait, Alain Rivière donne un témoignage de fidélité et rend une action de grâces. " Dans un premier temps, j'ai voulu et choisi l'attitude de Moïse sur la montagne élevant ses mains vers le ciel. Mais je n'ai pu résister aux cris de ceux qui _ en bas _ mouraient dans la bataille. Et je suis venu simplement me ranger parmi eux. "

Alain Resnais Editions Argol
Draws from twentieth-century French thought on film and aesthetics to address the philosophical significance of the pervasiveness of screens in contemporary technological life as well as the mutation of philosophy that such a pervasiveness seems to require. In The Flesh of Images, Mauro Carbone analyzed Merleau-Ponty's interest in film and modern painting as it relates to his aesthetic theory and as it illuminates our contemporary relationship to images. Philosophy-Screens broadens the work undertaken in this earlier book, looking at the ideas of other twentieth-century thinkers concerning the relationship between philosophy and film, and extending that analysis to address our experience of electronic and digital screens in the twenty-first century. In the first part of the book, Carbone examines the ways that Sartre, Merleau-Ponty, Lyotard, and Deleuze grappled with the philosophical significance of cinema as a novel aesthetic medium unfolding in the twentieth century. He then considers the significance of this philosophical framework for understanding the digital revolution, in particular the extent to which we are increasingly and comprehensively connected with screens. Smartphones, tablets, and computers have become a primary referential optical apparatus for everyday life in ways that influence the experience not only of seeing but also of thinking and desiring. Carbone's Philosophy-Screens follows Deleuze's call for "a philosophy-cinema" that can account for these fundamental changes in perception and aesthetic production, and adapts it to twenty-first-century concerns. "Mauro Carbone is one of the very best interpreters of French philosophy in general and aesthetics in particular. This book furthers recent research he has undertaken on cinema and more specifically its significance both in twentieth-century debates in philosophy and its role in our cultural experience. This is an insightful and informative book and will be of interest to a broad spectrum of readers." — Stephen Watson, University of Notre Dame
